

EX-GOVERNOR OF PA., WM. C. SPROUL, DIES AT AGE OF 57

Was Stricken With Heart Disease Last December
HAD NOTABLE CAREER
Elected To Pa. State Senate In 1896; Re-elected Five Times

CHESTER, Pa., Mar. 22.—(INS).—Stricken with heart disease last December, Ex-Governor William Cameron Sproul, 57, is dead today at his home, Lapidea Manor, near here. He succumbed at 9:30 last night.

Sproul came to his end peacefully. His wife, the former Miss Emeline Wallace Roach, of Chester, his son, Capt. John Roach Sproul, and his daughter, Mrs. Lawrence P. Sharples, were at his bedside.

Dr. S. R. Caruthers, personal physician to the ex-Governor, explained that Sproul was in a coma when he died. Complication of diseases is blamed for his death. Members of his family say Sproul was stricken with pneumonia more than a year ago and left his home too soon.

Funeral service will be held at 3 p. m. Saturday at the ex-governor's late residence, "Lapidea Manor." Only members of the family and close friends will be admitted. Interment will take place probably Monday at the Chester Rural Cemetery.

Sproul was born at Octoraro, Pa., on September 16, 1870. He was, in turn, farmer, manufacturer, journalist and politician. He was president of the Chester Daily Times and Morning Republican at Chester. He organized and developed numerous railroads, mining, traction and power companies in West Virginia and he was actively interested in several banks.

Sproul was elected to the Pennsylvania State Senate in 1896 and was re-elected five times, serving continuously for 20 years. He was president pro tem of the Senate 1903-05 and in 1915 was elected Governor of the State. At the Republican National Convention in 1920 he received the unanimous vote of the Pennsylvania delegation for nomination for president and scattering votes through seven ballots from other states.

He was a member of numerous club and organizations including the Masons, Elks, the Patrons of Husbandry and the Patriotic Order Sons of America. His clubs included the Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Chester, India House, Manhattan and Bankers (New York) and the Corinthian Yacht Club.

Sproul was a trustee of Swarthmore College and of Mercersburg Academy. He received degrees from Swarthmore, Franklin and Marshall, the University of Pennsylvania, Gettysburg, Lafayette and the University of Pittsburgh.

Miss Mary Gillingham Dies At Home In Hulmeville

HULMEVILLE, Mar. 22.—Miss Mary Gillingham, Hulmeville's oldest resident, died this morning.

The familiar figure to old and young hereabouts, who was known to all as "Miss Mary," passed her 95th birthday on August 22nd of last year.

Hulmeville had for 50 years been the home of this genial woman, and her acquaintance among the children as well as among the grown-ups was large. "Miss Mary's" birthday was not forgotten at any time by her friends, who always made it a practice to pay her a visit on that day, or show in some way that they had remembered her anniversary. Miss Gillingham was born in Flushing, later moving to Bensalem, thence to Hulmeville. In this borough she resided on Main street, and with her lived her sister-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Gillingham. Nieces and nephews of the deceased also survive.

This long-time resident was the oldest member of the Bensalem Methodist Church, and even during the past few years enjoyed occasional visits to services there. She was also affiliated with the Ladies' Aid Society of the Neshaminy M. E. Church, here.

She had enjoyed exceptionally good health, until Saturday, when she complained of not feeling well. Since that time she had gradually grown worse until death occurred this morning at seven o'clock.

Miss Gillingham's late brother, the Rev. Samuel Gillingham, was engaged for a number of years in the active ministry.

The Rev. Walter S. Johnson, pastor of the Bensalem M. E. Church, and the Rev. Walter H. Canon, pastor of the Neshaminy M. E. Church, will be in charge of the service at the late residence of the deceased, Monday at 1:30 p. m. Burial will be made in Beechwood Cemetery.

Three young men from Newtown were treated for injuries at the Harriman Hospital, here, last night, following a slight accident to their machine, and after they had extricated the vehicle themselves.

The trio: Edward Hofmeister, 19, of 229 S. Lincoln avenue, Newtown; Paul Card, 21, Newtown; Edward Arnwine, 21 S. Court street, Newtown.

TELLS KIWANIS CLUB ABOUT CLUB WORK

State College Specialist Gives Interesting Talk On Boys and Girls

7,500 ARE NOW ENGAGED

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 22.—Addressing the weekly dinner meeting of the Kiwanis Club here Monday night at Bunner's Restaurant, Allen H. Baker, of State College, specialist in charge of boys' and girls' club work in Pennsylvania, outlined the possibilities of boy and girl development in club work in rural communities, aided by service clubs.

The meeting was staged by Kiwanis C. L. Goodling, dean of Farm School, and chairman of the agricultural committee of the club, with the idea that one of the Kiwanis projects in the near future will be a boys' and girls' club in a tuberculin tested area or among herds in various sections that are tested.

Mr. Baker outlined the work in detail. He said that at the present time 7,500 boys and girls in Pennsylvania are engaged in club work of various kinds, learning the best known methods of training livestock and of home-making. He told how, as a result of club work started in Quakertown three years ago, three car loads of disease-free potatoes have been shipped into that community this year.

The calf club project, it was explained, takes about three years to complete. It means an investment of about $150 for every calf club member. A 10-year minimum age is advised for calf club members and they are taken up to 15 years. The average age is 13 years. As to financing, Mr. Baker said that in the state, 90 per cent. of the financing is done by banks. In this manner the club member learns the rules of banking and the club member becomes acquainted with the bankers. Service club members, in many instances, have endorsed the notes of the calf clubs' members. It was explained. The loans go along for 27 or 28 months and at the end of that period, an income is assured, and the club member starts a savings account in the bank and eventually pays off the note.

It was explained that another part the service club can play in this project is the creation of an insurance fund that protects the boys and girls against loss of a calf. Mr. Baker said that his department at State College and the County Farm Agent would be glad to work along with Kiwanis in any project the club might adopt in the near future.

President Keller called attention to the district conference and inter-club meeting at the Casa-del-Rey, Haverford, on Wednesday afternoon and evening of this week. The Doylestown club will send twelve representatives to this meeting. Vice-President Carroll Ross and District Trustee Isaac J. Vanartsdalen, having a part in the afternoon program. At the evening meeting, State President Homer Swaney, of Beaver Falls, will be one of the speakers.

Guests last night included Rotarian William F. Greenawalt, County Farm Agent, William Large and Charles Worthington.

At a meeting of the board of directors, officers and committee chairman at the office of President Keller following the weekly dinner meeting, a committee was authorized to complete plans for the annual Easter egg hunt for the kiddies to be staged again this year, details of which will be announced later. The program for the next quarter was also mapped out.

MEET AND SEW

Among the group of members of the colored branch of the Needlework Guild who sewed at the Community House yesterday were: Mrs. West, Mrs. Mary Johnson, Miss Elvey, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Budd, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Jeannet, Mrs. Reed, and Mrs. F. Robinson.

SECOND SEMINAR OF COUNTY SCOUTS IS WELL ATTENDED

Several from Bristol Were Present at Meeting in Doylestown

SCOUTCRAFT EXHIBITS

Perkasie and Bristol Troops Make Fine Showing At Meeting

Bristolians who attended the second meeting of the Bucks County Seminar for Scouters, held at Doylestown Tuesday night were: Joseph Burtonwood, Thomas S. Harper, John C. Harper, John C. Johnson, Russell A. Johnson, David Neil, Harrison C. Leake, Herbert A. Pettit, Charles E. Shade, and T. R. Smith.

The attendance and interest at the seminar continues to grow. At this second meeting in the Doylestown Armory, 53 men were in attendance, an increase over the last meeting of ten.

Exhibitions of Scoutcraft were presented by Troop No. 1, Perkasie, Claude N. Gilbert, scoutmaster, and Troop No. 5, Bristol, Harrison C. Leake, scoutmaster.

Troop No. 1 of Perkasie also had a group of boys present who demonstrated many pieces of the exhibited material. Troop Committeeman William Bayha, of Perkasie No. 1, discussed an "I Made It Contest" which was followed by an exhibition drill by Troop No. 2 of Doylestown, under the leadership of Patrol Leader James Keyser.

Scoutmaster Joseph W. Lindemfeller, Langhorne, discussed the topic of "Troop Organization" which was followed by a lively discussion from the floor.

A barrel tilt created considerable interest with competitors representing all of the communities. Quakertown, ably represented by "Bob" Krause, successfully defeated Traub, of Churchville, and Schofield, of Morrisville, who placed second and third. Referee assistant scoutmaster Walter Rutherford had to render several close decisions especially between Utz, of Yardley, and Rev. "Charlie" Freeman, of Doylestown.

The main address of the evening, delivered by Dr. George H. Fickes, of Lafayette College, on the subject of "Elementary Laws of Boy Life," was a revelation of the problems that a youth faces in adjusting himself to his growth into manhood. Speaking from the moral, physical, and social side of the boys' development through the adolescent years, the speaker successfully proved the point that "We must have unlimited patience" in dealing with boys as they are leaving their youth and facing manhood.

Scoutmaster Clifford C. Nelson No. 1, talked on "The Budget Troop."

Assistant Scoutmaster Webster Achey, of Doylestown No. 1, told a story with illustrations by many of the men present which was enjoyed by everyone. Scout Executive H. G. Horton of the Eastern area council spoke on "The Good Turn," stressing the fact that the greatest "good turn" to humanity was done during biblical times, and that in our everyday life we should seek opportunities for helpfulness rather than be satisfied with those duties we are expected to do daily as a means to complete our agreement of "a good turn daily." The meeting concluded with announcements by the course leader, George Ross, chairman of the training committee, and the singing of "Taps." The next meeting will be at the Bucks County Country Club, Langhorne, Tuesday, April 3rd, 7:30 p. m.

SLIGHT FIRE

Bristol Consolidated Fire Department was called this morning to extinguish a blaze in a small building on the property of Warner J. Steel.

Contributionship Dedicates New Offices At Morrisville

The handsome new home of the Bucks County Contributionship for Insuring Houses and Other Buildings From Loss by Fire was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies yesterday at Morrisville. The stone structures simple in architecture and substantial in construction stands just back of the building of the Morrisville Trust Company on North Pennsylvania avenue. It is built of stone taken from the quarry at the Neshaminy and the tile inside was made at the plant in Morrisville.

Previous to the dedication ceremonies which took place at 2:30 there was dinner served to officers, visitors and a number of invited guests in the Morrisville Community House. Numerous speeches were made and then after adjournment there was a general inspection of the new quarters.

Two large bronze tablets, one on either side of the main doorway were unveiled. On them there is inscribed the following: "In Tribute to the Vision of Our Fathers This Building is Dedicated." "Their Vision to Protect Each Other From Undue Loss by Fire—We Carry On." The unveiling of the tablets was done by George Balderston.

Following the dedication the gathering again convened in the Community House and there listened to an historical sketch showing the growth and development of the company by Secretary Bishop. Following this there were several addresses given by representatives of kindred organizations from Minneapolis, Massachusetts, Harrisburg and the officers of the Bucks County Contributionship.

Among the speakers at the dinner was Howard I. James, solicitor, Bristol.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS

Ceremonies Conducted in A Most Able and Effective Manner

BANQUET IS ENJOYED

At six o'clock last evening, Morning Star Chapter, No. 392, Order of the Eastern Star, met in the chapter rooms, by special dispensation of the Grand Chapter, for the installation of newly elected officers for the ensuing year.

The installing officers, Past Matron Sarah A. Shipp and Ethel R. Myers as marshal conducted the installation in a most able and effective manner.

Lena R. Mariner was installed as worthy matron, John H. Myers as associate matron, Margaret B. Smoyer as associate matron, Elsie Keplar as conductress, Ethel O'Dea as associate conductress and other officers to their respective stations.

Mrs. Mariner was conducted to her station under a guard of honor, formed by fourteen officers, each carrying roses which she walked, escorted by the marshal. After conducting Mrs. Mariner to her station, Mrs. Myers collected the roses while she sang "In the Garden of Tomorrow" at the close of which she presented the bouquet of roses to Mrs. Mariner.

After the installation, the retiring worthy matron, Clara I. Owen, and patron, John H. Myers, were presented with their jewels of office.

The worthy matron's jewel was presented to her by five of the officers in a dialogue called "Crossroads" at the close of which Ethel O'Dea presented the jewel of office together with a beautiful basket of flowers, and Ida E. McElmoy sang "A Perfect Day."

The patron's jewel of office was in the form of an electric coffee urn, presented to him by the chapter.

Beautiful baskets of flowers and corsage bouquets were presented to both the retiring and newly elected officers, and many gifts were also given.

After the installation of officers the members retired to the Elks' Home where a sumptuous banquet was served by McAllister to about one hundred and ten members and their guests.

The room was most attractively decorated, they being left for the use of the Eastern Star through the kindness of the Exchange Club.

BRISTOL RESIDENT AMONG WINNERS IN NATIONAL CONTEST

Miss Alice J. Neeld, of Bath Street, Will Receive Award

PRAISES LAUNDRY

Writes Letter in Contest Recently Conducted Throughout the Nation

Miss Alice J. Neeld, 622 Bath street, Bristol, has been declared among the winners in the $50,000 cash prize competition conducted by the landowners of the United States and Canada, according to information received here today from contest headquarters at Indianapolis.

Selection was made from among the 1,044,372 letters entered in the competition from practically every civilized country on the face of the globe. The subject was, "Why The Laundry Should Do My Washing." With the honor accorded goes an award.

Winners of the ten national prizes announced today are: Mrs. A. W. Thomas, West Allis, Milwaukee, Wis., the happy mother of two children, first prize of $10,000; Mrs. Clyde Watt, Midwest, Wyo., second prize of $5,000; Mrs. Mervyn Dunnagan, Portland, Ore., third, $2,000; Mrs. Mary E. Hole, Bartlesville, Okla., fourth, $1,250; William T. Gray, Brooklyn, N. Y., fifth, $1,000; Mrs. C. M. Davis, Deaver, Wyo., sixth, $700; Mrs. Mary M. Allen, Newark, N. J., seventh, $500; Mrs. Victoria Gruener, Miami, Florida, eighth, $400; Mrs. P. J. Mulrooney, Toronto, Canada, ninth, $250; and Harriet L. Troan, Rochester, N. Y., tenth, $100.

State winners from Pennsylvania are: Mary I. Thompson, 213 Cedar avenue, Conestoga, first prize, $225; Eleanor M. Wilson, R. D. 7, Bellevue, second prize, $125; Mrs. R. C. Severance, Sewickley, third prize, $100; Grace A. Butler, 1011 Race street, Conestoga, fourth prize, $50; Ruth E. Dugan, 223 E. Tabor road, Philadelphia, fifth prize, $35; Mrs. Mary A. Fear, 224 Linden street, West Pittston, sixth prize, $25; Mrs. A. J. Rogers, 2400 Saranac avenue, South Hills, Pittsburgh, seventh prize, $20; Mrs. Irene Noah, 2622 Oak avenue, Altoona, eighth prize, $10; Mrs. Carrie B. Waters, 7244 B. Radbourne road, St. Clair, ninth prize, $5; Edgar K. Zimmerman, 717 St. Clair avenue, Jeannette, tenth prize, $5.

Miss Alice J. Neeld, 622 Bath street, Bristol, has the distinction of not only winning honorable mention in a field of national competition in which more than a million letters were entered but will also receive a laundry service credit. The prize winning letter of the local contestant follows:

"Every day sees new interests crowding into the hours of the busy home-makers, undoubtedly the pace quickens, the home-maker has many outside interests as the business woman, time becomes more precious for both.

"As my duties in library were increasing, I knew that I would have to have more efficient tools—improved methods, new inventions must prove better results for me, or I would lose my efficiency in capacity of business woman.

"One day I thought I would send my washing to a modern laundry to have them washed and ironed, and see for myself how efficient a modern laundry could handle my washing—I was more than delighted as they were laundered ready to use.

"The thing that appealed to me most was the way it has cut my house-keeping job. I now find time to read good books, which is a pleasure, as well as a help in my business.

"It seems almost unbelievable that in sending my wash to the laundry could make such a difference. If you could only know how much this means, not only to me but to my whole family.

"The laundry has taught me much about washing—the various types mechanical action used to keep the clothes and water in motion, but also the best procedure for handling the family washing. This procedure will enable the home-maker to give her family the luxury of ample linen and frequent changes, with the least amount of time and energy involved.

"Which is as it should be as the use of a wisely chosen laundry actually raises the standards of living in the American home—for cleanliness and economy you owe it to yourself.

"It is natural then, that the laundry should make irresistible appeal to the discriminating home makers of America."

HIGH SCHOOL SEXTET SHOWS GREAT FORM

Coach Mary Fine is Proud of Girls and Showing Made

MISS McFADDEN IS STAR

To Miss Ellen McFadden, a former guard on the Bristol High girls' basketball team, and more recently a forward, do a large percentage of the laurels of same team belong. Out of a total of 458 points secured by the girls' sextet from Bristol in games with a number of other schools, McFadden totalled 252, over half of Bristol's scoring total.

In fact, Miss McFadden's shots for the basket gave to Bristol a larger number of points than the entire list of opponents had. Teams playing against Bristol ran up 253.

In her office at the high school "gym" today Coach Mary Fine told of her pride in Bristol's basketball team during the past season. "The response to my coaching suggestions was just splendid," she said. "This readiness on the part of all the girls helped materially in winning our large percentage," which was a total of 14 out of 16.

The majority of games were played at home, and the two teams to which Bristol was forced to bow were Bordentown and Mount Holly. "Despite the fine work of our girls in the Bordentown game played at that town, we were defeated by one point. But the group staged a fine comeback when Bordentown visited our borough." At that time the total for the local players outnumbered Bordentown's score by three.

The line-up for the first team during the last few months of playing has been: Ellen McFadden, Elsie Rockhill and Marian Harrison, forwards; Florence Peirce, center; Sue Strumfels, side center; Virginia Paul and Lena Giagnacova, guards.

"I will lose a few players this year, but nevertheless we still maintain high hopes for our work in this line of sport next year," remarked Miss Fine in speaking of her proteges.

Peirce and Harrison (captain) will not return next fall, and the team will suffer considerably by this loss. Great hope was expressed however for Randolph, center of the second team. "She will do good work next year we all believe." It was the coach's idea of this player. It was stated that Strumfels and McFadden will still be of great assistance when another basketball season rolls around; and regret was expressed over the loss this Spring of one who is termed one of the best guards, Virginia Paul.

The second team consists of: Randolph, center; Davis, side center; Bell and McGinley, forwards; and LeCompte and Still, guards. This is the first year that LeCompte has been out for the team, and much dependence will be put in her for Bristol's girls' team next year, according to Miss Fine.

"We cannot say too much of any one girl's work," the coach told today, "but without Sue Strumfels' activities as side center our results would not have been nearly so good." This side center is known for her alertness and quick motion. Speaking of diminutive Elsie Rockhill it was stated that she also gives promise of much. This resident of the township started as a member of the second team last December, but by the end of the season she was on the first team.

Material assistance has been given to the female team, which has gained such a fine record for the year's work, by Miss Helen Moore, faculty advisor. Miss Moore was of great help in arranging of games at home and elsewhere. The willing spirit of Florence Peirce and Miriam Nills, manager and assistant manager respectively, were invaluable to Miss Fine and Miss Moore as well as the entire team.

It was learned that this is the best record of a girls' team in the history (Continued on Page Four)

BY-PASS HIGHWAYS

The problem of through automobile traffic, which it was thought had been met by the construction of interstate highways, presents itself more forcefully than ever in those sections of the country where large cities dot the established transcontinental or intersectional routes.

Tourists, traveling long distances, want to avoid congested city streets and have sought what relief they could find by the selection of routes that avoided crowded traffic centers, but this is not always feasible. There has developed, in consequence, the theory of by-pass highways, designed to carry through traffic away from all dense centers of population and thereby expedite both motor freight and travel for pleasure.

The advantages to travelers, shippers and the cities themselves from this diversion of traffic are manifest. Through automobile traffic is no longer regarded as a trade stimulus by large cities. These urban centers are having enough difficulty with domestic traffic problems without encouraging their multiplication. Smaller cities, which have traffic problems correspondingly great, but want the tourist trade, favor by-pass highways because they separate those who want to trade with them from those who are speeding toward another goal beyond.

IT WAS ALWAYS A NUISANCE

Another old tradition is under fire. This time the iconoclasts are neither the young historians nor the "smart-aleck" critics, but the master barbers and health commissioner of New York City. They would, as a health measure, abolish for all time the brushing of patrons' clothes in barber shops.

The historic ritual of passing a broom vigorously over the clothes of the barbered customer has always had about it the elements of mysticism. Obviously its purpose is not to clean his habiliments, since the health commissioner in this case condemns the practice as highly unsanitary, and it has long been recognized by students in this field that the very quickest way to soil a light felt hat is to entrust it to the ministrations of the porter's brush.

Moreover, it satisfies no pride or esthetic longings in the person ministered to, since in most cases he regards it as a bore and walks away in embarrassment during the ceremony.

Is it the incidental tips which lure the brusher to his curious calling? If not, it must be that those who embrace the art do so in response to some supernatural call, like Joan of Arc or the occasional artist who professes to be only the medium through which works a higher intelligence.

Should the brusher be cast out of the barber shop, one wonders in what new channel those who have devoted a career to whisking imaginary dust from coat collars and trouser cuffs can direct their strange talent and undoubted energy.

What it takes to make a man pipe-happy, P.A. has!

TAKE a piece of paper and write down all the things you like in a smoke. Then buy a tidy red tin of P.A. and check the tobacco against your list. Open the package and release that tantalizing P.A. fragrance. Load up and light up. One thrill now follows another. You're ready to believe all the fine things you've heard about P.A.

Cool as a jury-foreman, rising to speak. Sweet as his words: "Not guilty." Mild as your interest in a civil suit. Mild and mellow, but with that rich, satisfying tobacco-body that only the world's most popular brand can offer. You can't seem to get enough of tobacco like this!

The proof of the puffing is in a pipe packed with P.A. Go get some now and see what a real companion your pipe can be when you put it on the right ration. Just around the corner is a store where they hand out pipe-joy in tidy red tins. Your cue-to-contentment is to get around there now.

TWO full ounces of genuine smoke-joy in every tidy red tin.

PRINCE ALBERT

—the national joy smoke!

POLLYANNA COLYUM

One of the advantages of being a free horn American citizen is that when you want to do anything you can go right ahead without asking anybody—except your wife, the police, your boss, your life insurance company, your doctor, and the neighbors.

People who live in summer suits should go south for the winter.

Some people won't like talking movies—too much competition on reading the sub-titles.

Signs

When I feel red flannel scratchin' an' the snow don't squeak no more, The fire burns its brightest an' the chimney roars the more, Then the thermometer acts just crazy with its rushin' up and down, An' I hear a heap of talk 'bout that Easter hat an' gown,

Then I find myself a wonderin' how my fishin' tackle is, An' Bud gets out his marbles an' falls in his school quiz, Ma allows the sap's a runnin' in the maples by the mill, An' the mare acts kind o' skittish, like her colt that we call Bill.

Then a few birds start a flyin' on their regular northward swing— Man, I just can't keep from shoutin', "Gosh, I'm glad it's almost spring."

Male: A person who thinks he is a great help around the house because he doesn't leave his towels on the bathroom floor.

Kill time and it will send back ghosts of poverty to haunt you.

Many a woman talks to herself while her husband is present but she does not suspect it.

The fellow worth while is the man with a smile when his garter comes down in the middle of the aisle.

"Mary," admonished the hard-pressed Bristol husband as he eyed the milliner's bill, "If you can't learn to pass a hat, I'll soon have to."

With drug stores multiplying as fast as corner groceries, that school-girl complexion seems likely to decorate little sister for a generation or so.

"The up-to-date girl does not cry," says a critic. No: Look at the price of face powder!

It is computed that man has made some 32,647,389 laws. And has not yet managed to improve on the Ten Commandments.

1948 Mother: "Say, I didn't give you permission to go around the world last week. You'll be going to Mars for dates at this rate. For a month now, you can't go farther than Paris for a week-end."

Only thing you can tell by some watches is what time it isn't.

"The man who isn't sure of his ground will take water every time."

An open mind is all right if you know when to close your mouth.

Many a woman regrets that she didn't have the training of her husband from the time he was a child.

Usher (to cold, dignified lady): "Are you a friend of the groom?"
The Lady: "Indeed, no! I am the bride's mother."

Home is where the keys were left, in the other pants of the two-pants suit.

Little girls are punished for making faces. But not when they grow up.

A hot dog becomes a mad dog with too much mustard.

FALLSINGTON

John T. Fish has gone on a business trip to Cambridge, Maryland.

Mrs. John T. Fish is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lois High, in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Howard Satterthwaite attended the funeral of her sister, who died at Chestnut Hill Hospital on Monday, and was buried on Friday from her parents' home, Mr. and Mrs. Mechler, of Jenkintown.

Mrs. Carver, of South Langhorne, has been spending a week with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Clucas.

Miss Mae Kelly spent Wednesday in Philadelphia with Mrs. Jesse Ulrich.

Mrs. M. Watson Moon and daughters, Jennie and Emma spent Thursday in Trenton Junction.

During the course of the banquet Charles Rathke entertained in his own amusing way with songs, etc.

At the banquet table, the retiring matron, Clara I. Owen welcomed the guests of members of the Eastern Star and also told of the splendid year she had enjoyed as worthy matron of Morning Star Chapter. She then called on the past district deputy grand matron, May H. Taylor, of Conshohocken, to say a few words.

Mrs. Taylor said she not only deemed it a pleasure but also a high honor to be a guest at the third annual banquet of Morning Star Chapter. She also welcomed the guests of the members present.

At the close of the banquet, the room was cleared and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

Music was furnished by Joe Lanza and his orchestra, and just merely saying the music was "great" will be putting it mildly.

Sickly Boy, 7, Gains 15 Lbs.—Father Happy

"My boy, 7, would not eat. I gave him Vinol and the way he eats and plays now makes me happy. He gained 15 pounds."—J. P. Andres.

Vinol is a delicious compound of cod liver peptone, iron, etc. The very FIRST bottle often adds several pounds weight to thin children or adults. Nervous, easily tired, anemic people are surprised how Vinol gives new pep, sound sleep and a BIG appetite. Tastes delicious. Harry H. Headley, druggist. (Adv.)

of the coach also counted for not a little of the glory, she merely remarked that the girls were the ones to whom the honor belonged.

The season started December 20th, while the last scheduled game took place on Friday evening, March 16th.

The coach, Miss Fine, has been located at the Bristol school only since last September, and since that time she has moulded into shape the best girls' team of which Bristol has been able to boast. Her work in other sports is also to be favorably commented upon. She has done exceptionally well among the girls in hockey, and has outlined a tentative schedule for baseball and track. Just now she is assisting in preparing a program for a gymnastic exhibition which the public will be invited to witness on March 29th in her workroom—the "gym."

What Girl Scouts Should Know About Fire Prevention

The subject of Fire Prevention is daily becoming of greater importance. People are recognizing the urgent need of practicing it and an increased effort is being made to spread the knowledge of preventive measures to all sections of the country.

A special effort is being made to impress this information on the minds of the younger generation. In conjunction with the leaders of the Girl Scouts the Insurance Department of the City of Jefferson, Missouri, conducted a Fire Prevention Campaign. Part of the program consisted of an examination for the Girl Scouts. These are the questions which were asked. How many can you answer?

1. What are the three main things mentioned in "Good Citizenship" which have to do with Fire Prevention?

- (a) What is the most potent factor of human nature in the cause of destructive fires?
- (b) Name four ways in which this habit demonstrates itself.
- (a) Give three safety rules for buying matches.
- (b) Give three safety rules for the use of matches.
- (a) Give three safety rules for placing of stoves and furnaces.
- (b) Give three rules that should be observed in the use of stoves and furnaces.
- (a) Give three safety rules for open fires.
- (b) Give two safety rules for handling rubbish.
- (a) When should you start a coal or wood fire with oil?
- (b) Should receptacles in which oil

- is burned be filled by daylight or after dark?

Tired and Achy Mornings?
Too Often This Warns of Sluggish Kidneys.

DOES morning find you stiff, achy—"all worn out"? Do you feel tired and drowsy—suffer nagging backache, headache and dizzy spells? Are the kidney secretions scanty and burning in passage? Too often this indicates sluggish kidneys and shouldn't be neglected.

Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, increase the secretion of the kidneys and thus aid in the elimination of waste impurities. Users everywhere endorse Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

New Wheel Bases

Now there are THIRTEEN new Speed Wagon Chassis—with wheel bases ranging from 115 to 175 inches—capacities from 1/2 ton to 3 tons—and with an average of TWO standard body types for each model.

New 4-Wheel Brakes

Hydraulic—not mechanical. Internal expanding—not external contracting. Always in adjustment, no cables to stretch, no rods to bend. Equal to every job, no matter how heavy the load. Protected against dirt and moisture—they stop you in any weather on any road, in reverse or going forward. These brakes are on ALL the new Speed Wagons—and in addition there is the independent hand lever brake operating on the propeller shaft.

New Low Prices

Here are price reductions ranging up to $260 that put Speed Wagon values even further in advance of anything else on the market today.

RED SOX LEARNING TO PLAY BALL

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth of a series of articles by Davis J. Walsh dealing with developments in various major league training camps. Other articles of the series will follow.)

By Davis J. Walsh
(N. S. Sports Editor)

BRISTOLTON, Fla., Mar. 22.—Say "yes" and the first thing you know you are a come-out; say "no" and, pronto, you are a big banker, doing big things in a big way or something. Say both with reasonable intelligence and maybe you belong in the White House.

And then again, life being the comical pastime it is, you may be the manager of the Boston Red Sox.

The writer interviewed Bill Carrigan today with the following result:

Q.—What do you think of your Red Sox?

A.—Yes.

Q.—How would you rate the American League teams on what they have shown to date?

A.—No.

This really was all I wished to know, so I thanked the gentleman kindly and rushed agog to the wire with the story. These garrulous Irish—how they do talk on.

However, and that, I wish to say that I found the interview both illuminating and instructive. It reminded me of the fact that the Bill Carrigan, manager, was William F. Carrigan, manager, in these off years when great Red Sox had ceased to be. His days then were "yes" and "no" days and maybe his form of intercourse has become habitual.

More probably, however, it is due to the fact that Bill Carrigan is more than passing shrewd and, in consequence he realizes that he has little to do, about, anyway. He is the manager of an eighth place ball club.

Twelve years ago the Red Sox were world's champions, a great ball club with a great manager, kindly unassuming and very mild. Bill Carrigan still is just that kind of a manager but, unfortunately the Red Sox are no longer that kind of a club.

But ball players will tell you that no team long can remain horizontal with Carrigan at its head. The Sox failed to get out of last place in 1927, the first year of his comeback; they figure they will do it this season.

At that, they practically are the same club, so there is nothing definite on which to base such a hope and the impression I gained from Carrigan is that he is wasting neither time nor thought with idle fancies of that sort. "We are learning to play ball," was his dry comment. "With some players it takes time. I can't say how long it will take with mine."

At this juncture there was evidence that a spontaneous expression of some kind was struggling for utterance against his better judgment.

"I will say this," he finally declared, and I judged that better judgment had lost. "This kid, Joe Cicero, looks like a comer."

Inquiry developed the fact that the young man is named Joseph Doughty Cicero, that he hails from Atlantic City, played with Easton, Penna., last year and that he really is a young man, indeed. He is only sixteen years old but either is ready at this moment or is getting ready with great haste. He is a third baseman and, in addition to looking the part of a very natty pattern at the position, he has been hitting them out of all reason, to say nothing of several ball parks.

Cicero, I gather, is Exhibit A, on this ball club. Exhibit B are the pitchers. Offhand, it would appear that Exhibit C is gone for the day.

Bryan Harrison, human telescope from Bangs, Texas, Dan MacFayden, Somerville, Mass., Charley Ruffing, Nokomis, Ill., Jack Russell, Paris, Texas, and Harold Wiltse, Clay City, Ill., were a better than average pitching staff last year. They still are, but just by way of emphasis and for good measure, they may be joined by Terb Bradley and Cliff Garrison, right handers from Agenda, Kansas, and Tempe, Arizona, respectively. Both look particularly well down here. So does Ed Morris, who pitched some 57 games in two years, at Mobile.

Still another good one is Merle Settemire, of Lakeview, Ohio, who also is up from Mobile. Merle is a left hander. John Wilson, of Thomaston, Georgia, up from Waterbury, and Bob Cremmins, left hander, with the club last year, have better than an outside chance of sticking. Of course some of these worthies must go but nobody around here seems to know just whom, how and when.

Yes, the Red Sox are ahead of the game on pitching. But otherwise, they are pretty much the same outfit that finished a bad last in 1927. The old infield of Phil Todd, St. Louis, at first base; Bill Regan, Pittsburgh, at second; Jack Rothrock, Lynwood, Calif., at shortstop, and Bill Rogell, Chicago, at third, is due to operate again. Maybe the operation will be one of those "successful" ones in which the patient inconsiderately dies for these lads are no better than fair. Buddy Myer, Ellisville, Miss., and Russell Rollings, 1927 utility, will be 1928 utility men, too.

Cicero, of course, is a distinct possibility, although he still is a year away. Paul Hinson, up from Joplin, isn't likely to tarry long.

Freddie Hoffman, St. Louis, and Johnny Heving, Covington, Ky., have returned as first string catchers, which means that the Sox are fairly well protested in that sector. Charley Berry, former Lafayette star end, looks like the third man, although he is getting something of a rally from Ed Connelly, Brooklyn semi-pro. Ed Doherty, Holy Cross man, is running last in this race, if any.

Ken Williams, the reformed St. Louisian; Danny Williams, back again from Mobile, and Ira Flagstead, 1927 survivor, will compose the regular outfield. This combination too, is merely fair enough, provided you are not feeling too captious. George Loepp, Detroit, and Doug Tatt, of Nashville and Pasadena, Calif., also are around but nothing in particular is being done about it.

In fact, Arlie Tarbert, Columbus, Ohio, specimen, looks like the extra outfielder. He came up last year and contrived to stick.

—Mrs. George Clifton, of Mansion street, has been confined to her home for some time with illness.

The products you see consistently advertised in this paper are worthy of your confidence.

It takes two things to make a consistent advertiser. One is a strong conviction that he has a product that will hold its place in public favor despite competition. The other is actual proof of that ... the increasing popularity of his product.

If his product will not stand the test of comparison he would simply be throwing his advertising investment away. If the buying public rejects his product after it has been offered in advertising he has thrown his advertising investment away.

That's why the manufacturer who advertises his merchandise consistently is very sure of his quality ... and why you may be sure of it, too.

Gay Cotton Fabrics which Make Sunny Summer Days seem closer!

Crepe de Chene

A fine quality silk and cotton crepe—featuring smart floral and figure designs. Colorful combinations on grounds of Copenhagen, green, tan, gray, navy and black. 35 inches wide. Washable, too!

79c

Printed Organdie

Charming floral designs—gay colorful effects on grounds of white, yellow, blue, pink, helio. Fast color! These dainty organdies will inspire the making of many charming frocks. 38-inch.

74c

Printed Society Radium

Gay and colorful designs—floral and geometric effects—on Copenhagen, green, tan, navy and black. This rayon and cotton fabric launders perfectly and keeps its sheen. 36 inches.

85c

Tik Tak Charmeuse

An all-cotton fabric with a permanent lustrous finish—a luster which laundering will not dim. In neat designs on grounds of Copenhagen, rose, green, tan, navy and black. 36 inches.

58c

Hollywood Chintz

Dainty figure patterns—reminiscent of the chintzes of Colonial days. Figures of blue, green, rose, yellow and helio on white grounds. Both mother and little daughter make an enchanting picture in chintz. 32-inch.
